ENJOYMENT CONTINUES AT CITY'S HOMECOMING

Record Crowds Attend Celebration—Business Men's Association Well Pleased With Results So Far.

There is no let up to the crowds attending the homecoming. From the time the fun commenced Wednesday afternoon until nearly midnight there was an endless stream of visitors to the various attractions. As the week advances the attendance grows larger and the interest in the "sights" greater. If that were possible, the greater number of the most entertaining features of the midway is J. F. Murphy's "Busy City." This is a miniature automatic and mechanical wonder, a faithful reproduction in miniature of a real live city having its own railroad, church, machine shops, bank, female juggler, and hundreds of other features. There is not a dull moment in this novel entertainment which is educational and instructive as well as highly amusing.

The motordrome which is one of the stellar attractions of the shows is running to immense business. The various dare devil tricks by the wizard riders are indeed thrilling in the extreme. Indeed all the attractions along the midway are of an exceptionally high order and are drawing record crowds.

Tonight and Friday and Saturday are expected to outdo, in the matter of attendance, any previous homecoming or carnival ever held in the city. Although the air was somewhat chilly Thursday afternoon and evening, it did not deter the people from visiting the attractions, and the midway was almost impassable most of the time.

A feature of the week is the large number of people around the shopping center of the city. Every city and town within a radius of fifty miles of Mishawaka is represented in goodly numbers. Of course the decorated windows of those who entered the News-Times contest are the cynosure of all eyes. During the entire day of Wednesday, there were crowds of out of town people around the displays, and many were the encomiums passed to the city's merchants for the enterprise in going to so much trouble in their window trimming.

Now that half of the homecoming week has passed so successfully the Business Men's association has congratulating itself on the results so far achieved. To the News-Times on Wednesday evening C. L. Ostrander, president of the association, said that such celebrations were a great boon to those of our people who were forced to remain in the city the entire year. They were of necessity deprived of their summer homes, their automobiles, and the only diversion they had was an occasional visit to the moving picture shows. It was to these people, derived of the comforts, the enjoyments of life, that such an occasion as a homecoming appealed. The laboring "wife," said the president, were the support of our community and a large proportion of our population, then why should they be denied a little innocent enjoyment and recreation?

A special word of praise is due to the excellent band belonging to the show company. Their daily shows on the streets are greatly appreciated by the big crowds.

LETTERS OF THE PEOPLE

RESTRICTIONS THAT DON'T RESTRICT.

The News-Times, Mishawaka:—We note that our mayor, with his usual consistency for claiming everything and conceding nothing, now spins an unctuous halo to adorn his latest accomplishment in clamping the lid onto carnival gambling. The only difficulty about his claims that he shut down gambling is the fact that gambling went on, if all rumors be true, Wednesday night, with renewed vigor and eclat.

The concessions at which the sports were permitted to ring a knell, opened in full blast. Just what is the difference between ringing a knife and ringing a clothespin, the writer is unable to determine. The one is a trial of skill, so it is said, in extension of permitting the vice. But clothespinning it seems, must go under the ban, and rightly, for while you can ring the knives it is quite impossible to wring the clothes. It is all right to ring the knives and there is no objection to wringing clothes but you mustn't ring the clothespins. The visitors to town may not understand just exactly the difference in this, but by application to the official board of censors they will be given a catalog setting forth fine discriminations on pin wringing, knife wringing and clothes wringing.

Another gambling concession which did a "hand-office" business was the buttonhole bouquet racket, except that for artificial flowers real carnations were given out, and chewing gum. The carnations given out, it is reported, were the left-over stock remaining after making the carnation chewing gum for similar concessions on the street.

We note, among the reasons given for clamping on the lid is that local business men who are with us 365 days in the year are not permitted to operate games of chance; therefore carnival stands should not attempt to do so. We wonder if it ever occurred to anyone that we have restaurant keepers in the city 365 days in the year, against whom it is not at all necessary that "hot dog" concessionaires should operate their substitute wares for seven days in the year. Wonder if it ever occurred to some people that we have cigar men and confectionery dealers, chewing gum, popcorn and peanut vendors who are with us 365 days in the year, and day and night at that, against which similar concessions, including religious organizations, seem to think it highly propitious to compete during the carnival jubilee? Wonder if we don't have picture shows and hot times, splendid bills of vaudeville in local play houses? And why should risque, rare and racy shows be called in for one week to compete against the local houses? Wonder if Mishawaka is not a city of the future, where up-to-date photograph galleries in the city 365 days in the year, against which glaring "get-photoed-quick" artists may compete with right good will?
